Pamela Burwash is the Lead Coach and Director of Program Design.

Pamela helps clients develop a solid foundation from within, empowering them to thrive in their professional and personal lives. She works with individuals, at all stages of their careers, to integrate productivity tools, collaboration skills, and mindset practices, to perform at their best.

For 14 years, Pamela was an account manager and business developer for a national, promotional branding organization. In her role, she leveraged her creativity and passion for helping others by creating meaningful connections for her clients and establishing strong partnerships with some of Canada's top brands.

Pamela is an Associate Certified Coach (ACC) with the International Coaching Federation (ICF) and holds a certification in the Mind Rebel™ methodology. Her coaching style is rooted in empowerment, compassion, empathy and presence. She has an Honours Bachelor of Commerce degree from the University of Ottawa where she specialized in marketing.

When not working, she can be found spending time with her husband, two children and dog. Pamela is a lifelong learner and when not golfing, skiing or being outdoors, you can find her engrossed in the latest professional development or finance book.
